Advances in Reconstructive and Aesthetic Plastic Surgery

Message from the Guest Editor

Reconstructive and aesthetic plastic surgery continues to push the boundaries of innovation, blending advanced scientific techniques with artistic precision to redefine the possibilities of patient care. This Special Issue will spotlight cutting-edge developments in both the reconstructive and aesthetic realms, with a particular focus on minimally invasive procedures, regenerative approaches, and personalized treatment methodologies. Integrating novel technologies, including hybrid filler-fat injectables and cell-enriched lipotransfer, underscores the discipline's commitment to delivering superior outcomes with natural-looking, long-lasting results. Additionally, advancements in microsurgical techniques, 3D imaging, and the utilization of stem-cell technology highlight the transformative potential of multidisciplinary collaboration. By gathering insights from leading experts, this Special Issue will inspire innovation, encourage best practices, and shape the future of plastic surgery, ultimately enhancing patient satisfaction and quality of life.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

There has been an explosion of gene and target based research and therapeutics in the multitude of fields that compose clinical medicine. The Journal of Clinical Medicine's (JCM) staff and editorial board are dedicated to providing cutting edge, timely, and peer-reviewed articles covering the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and exciting research articles as well as clinically significant articles and reviews that are pertinent to the myriad of disciplines within medicine. The articles published are relevant to both primary care physicians and specialists. The journal's full-texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in PubMed. Please consider submitting your manuscripts for publication to our journal and check us out on-line!
