Coronary Angiography: Recent Advances in Cardiovascular Imaging

Message from the Guest Editors

We currently serve as the of the new Special Issue, "Coronary Angiography: Recent Advances in Cardiovascular Imaging", to be published in the Journal of Clinical Medicine (IF 2022: 4.964). Invasive coronary angiography remains the main tool for diagnosing coronary artery disease. The better comprehension of pathophysiology of coronary artery disease and the progress of biomedical technology has given us the opportunity to use multiple techniques for achieving intravascular imaging of coronary arteries. Intravascular ultrasound (IVUS) and Optical Coherence Tomography (OCT) are the two approaches used for the evaluation of coronary plagues and percutaneous coronary interventions optimization. The aim of this special issue is to present the recent advances in intracoronary imaging.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

There has been an explosion of gene and target based research and therapeutics in the multitude of fields that compose clinical medicine. The Journal of Clinical Medicine's (JCM) staff and editorial board are dedicated to providing cutting edge, timely, and peer-reviewed articles covering the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and exciting research articles as well as clinically significant articles and reviews that are pertinent to the myriad of disciplines within medicine. The articles published are relevant to both primary care physicians and specialists. The journal's full-texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in PubMed. Please consider submitting your manuscripts for publication to our journal and check us out on-line!
