

Special Issue

Coronary Angiography: Recent Advances in Cardiovascular Imaging

Message from the Guest Editors

We currently serve as the of the new Special Issue, “Coronary Angiography: Recent Advances in Cardiovascular Imaging”, to be published in the Journal of Clinical Medicine (IF 2022: 4.964). Invasive coronary angiography remains the main tool for diagnosing coronary artery disease. The better comprehension of pathophysiology of coronary artery disease and the progress of biomedical technology has given us the opportunity to use multiple techniques for achieving intravascular imaging of coronary arteries. Intravascular ultrasound (IVUS) and Optical Coherence Tomography (OCT) are the two approaches used for the evaluation of coronary plaques and percutaneous coronary interventions optimization. The aim of this special issue is to present the recent advances in intracoronary imaging.
