

Special Issue

Advances in Pediatric Orthopedics

Message from the Guest Editors

We invite you to contribute to this Special Issue of JCM on “Advances in Pediatric Orthopedics”. Pediatric Orthopedics is the branch of Orthopedic Surgery that treats children in their musculoskeletal pathologies. This field has been increasing exponentially over the years. New therapies, new technologies, and new methodologies are always present. We are particularly interested in articles examining new approaches and new treatments for health care at the developmental age. Changes in already known treatments can also play a role in understanding how to properly heal orthopedics and traumatologist pathologies in children. The purpose of this Special Issue is to provide an update on current diagnostic and therapeutic lines in pediatric orthopedics, collecting original articles, meta-analysis, and reviews on this field. We welcome you to submit manuscripts on Advances in Pediatric Orthopedics to this Special Issue.
