Diseases of the Salivary Glands —Part II

Message from the Guest Editor

The year 2021 saw the publication of the Special Issue “Diseases of the Salivary Glands” (https://www.mdpi.com/journal/jcm/special_issues/Salivary_Glands), Part I, covering recent and novel advancements as well as future trends in the field of research evaluating diagnostic and therapeutic treatment of salivary gland (SGs) diseases. Given the enormous success of Part I, the Special Issue “Diseases of the Salivary Glands” Part II has been launched. Topics include:

- 1) Clinical features and presentation of potentially malignant SG disorders;
- 2) Risk factors and etiopathogenesis of SGs tumors;
- 3) Etiopathogenesis and molecular mechanisms involved in the chronic inflammatory condition characterizing Sjögren's syndrome;
- 4) New discoveries in the field of micro RNAs associated with Sjögren's syndrome;
- 5) Molecular markers linked to development and progression of SG diseases: current knowledge and future implications;
- 6) More innovative techniques for the study of the SG diseases: current limitations and future directions.

Submissions are welcome, both solicited and unsolicited, which will contribute to this goal.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

There has been an explosion of gene and target based research and therapeutics in the multitude of fields that compose clinical medicine. The Journal of Clinical Medicine's (JCM) staff and editorial board are dedicated to providing cutting edge, timely, and peer-reviewed articles covering the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and exciting research articles as well as clinically significant articles and reviews that are pertinent to the myriad of disciplines within medicine. The articles published are relevant to both primary care physicians and specialists. The journal's full-texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in PubMed. Please consider submitting your manuscripts for publication to our journal and check us out on-line!
