Orthodontic Treatment in Clinical Practice: Strategies for Achieving Optimal Outcomes

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue “Orthodontic Treatment in Clinical Practice: Strategies for Achieving Optimal Outcomes” aims to bring together contemporary insights and innovations that enhance patient-centered orthodontic care. We invite submissions that explore the entire spectrum of orthodontic diagnostics and treatment planning, from simple to complex cases, and the integration of clinical strategies that lead to predictable and stable outcomes. We welcome a diverse range of contributions, including original research articles, systematic, scoping, and narrative reviews that provide new perspectives or challenge existing paradigms.

Topics of interest include, but are not limited to:

- Advances in diagnostic tools and digital workflows;
- Treatment planning strategies for varying case complexities;
- Biomechanical considerations and appliance design innovations;
- Interdisciplinary orthodontic management;
- Assessment of clinical outcomes and patient satisfaction;
- Long-term stability and retention protocols.

Outreach efforts will include engagement through academic networks, professional orthodontic societies, and conference presentations to encourage high-quality submissions from diverse global contributors.
