

Special Issue

Hypertension and Cardiovascular Disease: Clinical Updates and Perspectives

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to provide a comprehensive overview of the latest advancements, research findings, and clinical perspectives in the field. Hypertension and cardiovascular disease continue to be significant health concerns worldwide, necessitating continuous updates and insights into their diagnosis, management, and prevention. We welcome submissions focusing on emerging diagnostic techniques, novel treatment approaches, risk assessment models, and preventive strategies. Additionally, articles exploring the impact of lifestyle modifications, pharmacological interventions, and personalized medicine in managing hypertension and cardiovascular disease are encouraged. Authors are encouraged to contribute articles that shed light on the pathophysiology, epidemiology, and genetic factors associated with these conditions. Furthermore, we encourage submissions that explore the intersection between hypertension, cardiovascular disease, and other comorbidities such as diabetes, obesity, and renal disorders.
