Clinical Advances in Musculoskeletal Pain

Message from the Guest Editors

With this Special Issue of JCM, entitled “Clinical Advances in Musculoskeletal Pain”, we aim to focus on a wide range of topics from the fields of pain medicine, orthopedics, rheumatology, rehabilitation, physiotherapy, and psychology related to clinical advances in musculoskeletal pain. There is an increasing demand for effective management of chronic musculoskeletal pain as many patients are not receiving satisfactory therapy. We solicit the presentation of research focused on effective and safe multidisciplinary therapies to manage certain diseases where severe musculoskeletal pain is not well controlled by existing and recommended therapeutic methods. Moreover, many therapeutic methods and devices that are well-known and already used, as well as new ones, require additional studies to support their indications, contraindications, safety, and effectiveness in the management of musculoskeletal pain therapy. I welcome the submission of papers focused on any subject that is appropriate for inclusion in this Special Issue. Meta-analyses, reviews, and original articles are all welcome to be submitted.
