Novel Aspects of Lipoprotein Metabolism with Focus on Systemic Inflammation

Message from the Guest Editor

Dear colleagues, Recently developed high-throughput laboratory techniques regarding lipidomics and metabolomics have enabled one to discern novel cross-talk mechanisms between lipid phenotypes and enhanced chronic inflammation. This Special Issue welcomes the submission of manuscripts either describing original research or reviewing the scientific literature. Manuscripts should focus on lipoprotein metabolism and inflammation, particularly in relation to obesity, NAFLD, chronic kidney disease, and pharmacological treatment thereof. Potential topics may include but are not limited to the following:

- Cellular signalling mechanisms in lipoprotein metabolism;
- Cross-talk between lipoproteins and inflammation;
- Importance of low-grade autoimmunity for lipoprotein metabolism;
- Lipoprotein subfractions and CVD risk assessment;
- The role of PCSK9-related pathways in insulin secretion and action;
- Determinants of circulating PCSK9;
- Hormonal regulation of liver fat.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Journal of Clinical Medicine (ISSN 2077-0383) is an international, peer-reviewed, open access journal dedicated to advancing clinical and preclinical research. Our Editorial Board and staff are committed to delivering cutting-edge, timely, peer-reviewed articles spanning the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and impactful research articles, as well as reviews that are clinically significant and relevant to the full spectrum of medical disciplines. All full texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in SCIE (Web of Science), Scopus, PubMed, and other major databases. We invite you to submit your manuscript for publication, as well as join our community as a reviewer or reader online.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Medicine, General and Internal) / CiteScore - Q1
(General Medicine)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.6 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.8 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2026).
