

Bimetallic Composites for Oxidation and Reduction Catalysis

Guest Editors:

Dr. Deshetti Jampaiah
RMIT University, Australia

Dr. Vijay Kumar Velisoju
King Abdullah University of Science & Technology (KAUST),
Saudi Arabia

Message from the Guest Editors

In recent years, catalysts containing two or more metals have attracted great attention for different heterogeneous catalytic applications. Of various catalytic applications, oxidation and reduction are the two main processes in converting under-functionalized and over-functionalized starting materials in various fields, such as biomass valorization and fine chemical industry.

Deadline for manuscript submissions:

closed (31 October 2021)

