Special Issue

Editorial Board Members' Collection Series Advanced Sensors for Health

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to announce this Special Issue titled "Editorial Board Members' Collection Series Advanced Sensors for Health". This issue will comprise a collection of papers invited by the editorial board members with the aim of covering all aspects of biosensors. To this end, we are inviting the submission of experimental and theoretical contributions within the scope of this Special Issue, including original research papers, communications, and review articles. All papers will be fully open access upon publication after completing peer review.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The biomaterials field is one of the largest and fastest growing research areas both in the scientific community and in the industrial one. Biomaterials are the result of collaborations between different disciplines: chemistry, medicine, pharmacology, engineering and biology. The objective of this collaboration is to lead to the implementation of new devices to restore form and human body functions. The mission of the Journal of Functional Biomaterials (JFB) is to focus attention on physico-chemical characteristics and their importance in the interactions between biomaterials and living tissues. JFB seeks to publish studies on the preparation, performance and use of biomaterials in biomedical devices, as well as regarding their behavior in physiological environments. We are pleased to welcome you as our authors.
