Advances in Rehabilitation and Injury Management

Message from the Collection Editor

This Topical Collection—Advances in Rehabilitation and Injury Management—welcomes translational studies including new advancements in injury management. We emphasize studies that link biomechanical insights with clinically meaningful outcomes, return-to-play criteria, and early diagnosis. Studies on populations often under-represented in research, such as women, youth, and the elderly, are particularly welcome, alongside sport-specific, evidence-based designs. As , we invite contributions that pair methodological rigor with practical guidance to advance prevention, rehabilitation, and injury management.
