Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

With growing energy demands and the gradual depletion of traditional energy sources, deep-sea natural gas hydrates have become a research area of great concern. In recent decades, research on deep-sea natural gas hydrates has made great progress in terms of formation mechanism, distribution, exploration technology, and technology. This Special Issue aims to consolidate the latest advancements in this field. Authors are encouraged to present cutting-edge research that addresses current challenges in deep-sea natural gas hydrate exploration and drilling. We are looking for original research articles. reviews, and technical notes that contribute to the discourse on the advancement of exploration and drilling technologies used for deep-sea natural gas hydrates.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The Journal of Marine Science and Engineering (JMSE; ISSN 2077-1312) is an international peer-reviewed open access journal which provides an advanced forum for studies related to marine science and engineering. The journal aims to provide scholarly research on a range of topics, including ocean engineering, chemical oceanography, physical oceanography, marine biology and marine geosciences. We invite you to publish in our journal sharing your important research findings with the global ocean community.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions

High Visibility: indexed with Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), GeoRef, Inspec, AGRIS, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Engineering, Marine) / CiteScore - Q2 (Civil and Structural Engineering)
