

Special Issue

Monitoring and Analysis of Coastal Environments

Message from the Guest Editors

The Special Issue focuses on the monitoring and analysis techniques employed to study coastal environments. It aims to address a wide range of topics related to coastal environments, including, but not limited to, the following:

- Remote sensing and satellite imagery;
- In situ observations and measurements;
- Numerical modeling and simulation;
- Data analysis and integration;
- Climate change impacts and adaptation;
- Coastal ecology and biology;
- Coastal pollution;
- Water quality monitoring;

By enhancing our understanding of coastal processes, these studies will contribute to the enhanced management and conservation of the coastal environment.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The Journal of Marine Science and Engineering (JMSE, ISSN 2077-1312) is an international peer-reviewed open access journal which provides an advanced forum for studies related to marine science and engineering. The journal aims to provide scholarly research on a range of topics, including ocean engineering, chemical oceanography, physical oceanography, marine biology and marine geosciences. We invite you to publish in our journal sharing your important research findings with the global ocean community.

Editor-in-Chief

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed with Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, GeoRef, Inspec, AGRIS, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Engineering, Marine) / CiteScore - Q2 (Ocean Engineering)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 15.6 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 1.9 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
