

Special Issue

Recent Advances in Marine Geotechnics

Message from the Guest Editors

Considering the needs of nearshore and offshore engineering societies, this Special Issue aims to present the latest developments in advanced and innovative techniques in seabed site characterizations and/or numerical simulations for seabed-based structure analysis or design. Topics related to advanced site characterizations may focus on but are not limited to underwater geophysical methods, sampling technologies, in situ testing, highly efficient geotechnical survey methods, etc. Topics related to advanced numerical methods for seabed-based structure analysis or design could be related to marine foundations, anchors, cables, pipelines, breakwaters, etc. Case studies related to site characterizations and the design of seabed-based structures are also within scope.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The Journal of Marine Science and Engineering (JMSE, ISSN 2077-1312) is an international peer-reviewed open access journal which provides an advanced forum for studies related to marine science and engineering. The journal aims to provide scholarly research on a range of topics, including ocean engineering, chemical oceanography, physical oceanography, marine biology and marine geosciences. We invite you to publish in our journal sharing your important research findings with the global ocean community.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed with Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, GeoRef, Inspec, AGRIS, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Engineering, Marine) / CiteScore - Q2 (Ocean Engineering)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 15.6 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 1.9 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
