Integrated Coastal Zone Management II

Message from the Guest Editor

The concept of integrated coastal zone management (ICZM) is a relatively new one, emerging less than four decades ago from the need to tackle an array of interconnected problems associated with population growth and development along our nation's coasts. ICZM refers to a special type of governmental program established for the purpose of conserving coastal resources or environments through the control of development. This Special Issue attempts to collect papers that will broaden the scope of the previous Special Issue (found at https://www.mdpi.com/journal/jmse/special_issues/integrated_coastal_zone_management)

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The Journal of Marine Science and Engineering (JMSE, ISSN 2077-1312) is an international peer-reviewed open access journal which provides an advanced forum for studies related to marine science and engineering. The journal aims to provide scholarly research on a range of topics, including ocean engineering, chemical oceanography, physical oceanography, marine biology and marine geosciences. We invite you to publish in our journal sharing your important research findings with the global ocean community.
