Message from the Guest Editor

Autism spectrum disorder presents in a highly heterogeneous manner. This includes but is not limited to co-occurring conditions that most individuals with autism are diagnosed with. Given this large variability in how autism presents, approaches that are tailored towards individuals are essential.

This Special Issue seeks contributions that focus on approaches for diagnosis, classification, treatment, or management of individuals with autism spectrum disorder. Papers involving clinical trials are welcome as are computational/theoretical studies which are based upon real data. Of special interest are contributions which specifically address challenges related to the heterogeneity that exist in ASD as well as the effect of environmental factors on ASD.
