Message from the Guest Editor

The recent pandemic brought upon by the COVID-19 health crisis has changed the world and the real estate landscape. Notably, the real estate sector has been adversely affected by the decline in economic activities. Moreover, COVID-19 has brought new changes, such as travel restrictions, social distancing, and work-from-home arrangements, that have influenced the direct real estate and its related equity markets in various unprecedented ways.

In this Issue, we invite the submission of original articles examining the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on the real estate market. We welcome any contemporary papers focusing on the pandemic's influences on different aspects of the real estate market, including but not limited to real estate investment and equity returns, transaction volume and liquidity, property allocation and management, corporate governance, real estate listings and brokerage, and urban economics.
