

Special Issue

Accounting and Auditing in the Age of Sustainability and AI

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue in the Journal of Risk and Financial Management seeks to integrate contemporary advancements in financial accounting, and auditing with new knowledge from allied fields. Submissions that cover the evolving role of accounting and auditing in ensuring accountability and detecting irregularities, and the integration of management accounting in strategic decision-making are particularly encouraged. We also welcome papers on environmental and social reporting, reflecting the growing importance of sustainability disclosures and non-financial performance metrics. Papers addressing taxation, government accounting, and the interplay among regulation, technology particularly AI, and professional judgement are also invited.
