

Special Issue

e-Business Strategies and Systems

Message from the Guest Editors

e-Business is a field of study in which researchers continually create and implement new modelling frameworks and systems, strategic management methods, software tools, and analytical methods. e-Business strategies and systems aim to support e-Business development more effectively, efficiently, and reliably. This Special Issue reflects e-Business strategy and system development as a critical phase in e-Business-system life-cycle management. This Special Issue invites papers covering a wide range of topics, ranging from e-Business system requirement conceptualization to Web analytics for e-Business management and re-engineering. We will accept papers for peer review in the following areas of interest:

- e-Business Strategy Management;
- e-Business Risk Management;
- e-Business Trust Management;
- Cybersecurity;
- e-Business FinTech Systems;
- e-Business Economics and Finance;
- e-Business Analytics.
