Green Finance and Corporate Governance

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue seeks to examine how corporate governance practices influence and are influenced by the adoption of green finance principles within organizations. It delves into the mechanisms through which companies integrate environmental considerations into their decision-making processes, including the role of boards of directors, executive compensation structures, and shareholder engagement strategies. Furthermore, the scope of this Special Issue encompasses empirical research, theoretical frameworks, case studies, and policy analyses that shed light on the relationship between green finance and corporate governance. By fostering interdisciplinary dialogue and collaboration, this Special Issue aims to contribute to both academic knowledge and practical insights that can guide policymakers, corporate leaders, investors, and other stakeholders in advancing sustainable finance agendas and enhancing corporate governance practices.
