Message from the Guest Editors

Gender and its intersection with land processes are under-examined topics in land system science. These processes play essential roles in shaping human behavior and decision making, with potential multifaceted impacts on land dynamics. The aim of this Special Issue is to collect papers (original research articles and review papers) that provide insights into how gender impacts, and is impacted by, land dynamics. This Special Issue will welcome manuscripts that employ diverse methodologies, are based on research from all continents, and address a variety of gender–land themes, including, but not limited to, the following:

- Gendered land tenure, access, and/or control;
- Gender in land use decision making;
- Gendered migration and land change;
- Gender, climate change, and land;
- Gender, land, and generational shifts;
- Impacts of land change on gender systems;
- Intersectionality in the land system context;
- Differential impacts of land-related policies and programs.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Land is the only open access journal covering all aspects of land science, and it is a pioneering platform for publishing on land system science. Our editorial board is comprised of eminent scholars. We publish high quality research on societally relevant, emerging and innovative topics and results in land system research. It is now one of the top land journals with a significant impact factor, and has a goal to become the best journal in land in the coming years. I strongly recommend Land for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SSCI (Web of Science), PubAg, AGRIS, GeoRef, RePEc, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Environmental Studies) / CiteScore - Q2 (Nature and Landscape Conservation)
