Special Issue

The Forming of Cultural Landscapes and Urbanscapes

Message from the Guest Editors

For this Special Issue, we seek case studies dealing with the understanding of how cultural landscapes and urbanscapes developed in prehistory and historical times. Original research papers, reviews are welcome, which address theoretical and methodological questions in relation to landscape history, the development of early settlement networks, the presence and importance of anthropogenic features in historical landscapes. The scope of the Special Issue implies a wide range of topics, including the studies applying methods of both natural sciences and humanities.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Land is the only open access journal covering all aspects of land science, and it is a pioneering platform for publishing on land system science. Our editorial board is comprised of eminent scholars. We publish high quality research on societally relevant, emerging and innovative topics and results in land system research. It is now one of the top land journals with a significant impact factor, and has a goal to become the best journal in land in the coming years. I strongly recommend Land for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.
