

Special Issue

Land Use: Integration of Rural and Urban Landscape

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue will welcome manuscripts that link the following themes:

- Urban–rural integrated development affected by land use transitions (land-use/land-cover change);
- Land system science and social–ecological system research;
- Urban–rural integrated development and land management including agriculture, forestry, the built environment, and others;
- Landscape design and landscape planning in urban–rural integrated territorial development;
- Physical and human ecology studies and land use on integrated rural–urban landscape (e.g., climate–biosphere–biodiversity interactions; soil–sediment–water systems–hydro–ecological processes at multiple scales);
- Urban contexts, urban–rural interactions and urban planning and development: the role of median cities;
- Assessment and evaluation frameworks, indicators, indices, methods, tools, and approaches (ecosystem services, multifunctionality and sustainability of rural–urban integrated territories) etc

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Land is the only open access journal covering all aspects of land science, and it is a pioneering platform for publishing on land system science. Our editorial board is comprised of eminent scholars. We publish high quality research on societally relevant, emerging and innovative topics and results in land system research. It is now one of the top land journals with a significant impact factor, and has a goal to become the best journal in land in the coming years. I strongly recommend Land for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.
