Monitoring Land Cover Change: Towards Sustainability

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue emerged from contributions of the accepted abstracts at the 38th EARSeL Symposium and the 3rd joint EARSeL LULC & NASA LCLUC Workshop that took place, respectively, on 9–12 and 11–12 July, 2018, Chania, Greece. It nowadays is accepting relevant submissions, focused on any of the relevant following topics and the scope of Land journal.

- New instruments and data processing methods
- Geological, hydrological, land and ice applications
- Climate and climate change
- Agriculture and Forestry
- Urban and Thermal remote sensing
- Use of LIDAR and RADAR data for various applications
- Applications employing UAVs and UASs
- Synergy of remote sensing technologies for land-use change monitoring-
- The role of earth observations within the Water-Energy-Food nexus
- Social and behavioral aspects of land use supported by remote sensing observations
- Advances and outlook in the processing and analysis of remotely sensed data

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Land is the only open access journal covering all aspects of land science, and it is a pioneering platform for publishing on land system science. Our editorial board is comprised of eminent scholars. We publish high quality research on societally relevant, emerging and innovative topics and results in land system research. It is now one of the top land journals with a significant impact factor, and has a goal to become the best journal in land in the coming years. I strongly recommend Land for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.
