

Special Issue

Feature Papers on "Land Use, Impact Assessment and Sustainability" (2nd Edition)

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue particularly welcomes studies on land use and management, practices and policies, and their impacts on all the dimensions of sustainability. We invite the submission of papers that address assessment and evaluation methods and frameworks (ecosystem services/nature's contributions to people's wellbeing, multifunctionality, and sustainability), the development of indicators and indices, and the presentation of approaches to how land use and land management can be transformed to improved sustainability. We invite high-quality contributions that address (but are not limited to) the following themes:

- Integrated land use planning and policy;
- Environmental and social impact assessment methodologies;
- Sustainable land management and restoration;
- Land use change and its implications for climate, biodiversity, and water;
- Urbanization and green infrastructure development;
- Restoration of natural ecosystems;
- Nature-based solution for sustainable land management;
- Cross-sectoral and transdisciplinary approaches to sustainability.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Land is the only open access journal covering all aspects of land science, and it is a pioneering platform for publishing on land system science. Our editorial board is comprised of eminent scholars. We publish high quality research on societally relevant, emerging and innovative topics and results in land system research. It is now one of the top land journals with a significant Impact Factor, and has a goal to become the best journal in land in the coming years.
