

Special Issue

Soil Contamination—Ecological Environment Risk Assessment and Remediation

Message from the Guest Editors

The goal of this Special Issue is to collect papers (original research articles and review papers) that present the latest knowledge on the global problems of soil contamination, innovative solutions for soil contamination and ecological risk assessment, and remediation and sustainable management of areas with different types and levels of contamination. This Special Issue will welcome manuscripts that link the following themes:

- Soil pollution—characteristics of pollutants and their sources;
- Assessment of the degree of soil pollution;
- The fate of pollutants in the soil;
- Environmental, economic, and social effects of soil pollution;
- Ecological environment risk;
- Indicators and methods of environmental risk assessment;
- Soil remediation technologies;
- Management of contaminated soils;
- International and national legal regulations on soil pollution.

We look forward to receiving your original research articles and reviews.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Land is the only open access journal covering all aspects of land science, and it is a pioneering platform for publishing on land system science. Our editorial board is comprised of eminent scholars. We publish high quality research on societally relevant, emerging and innovative topics and results in land system research. It is now one of the top land journals with a significant impact factor, and has a goal to become the best journal in land in the coming years. I strongly recommend Land for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.
