Land Governance in Support of Peace? Insights and Debates on Land Governance Strategies in “Post-War” Settings

Message from the Guest Editors

We invite papers on topics including but not limited to

- The impacts of land governance strategies on land access and land tenure (in)security in war-affected settings;
- The impacts of land governance strategies on dispute resolution and conflict transformation, including the potential generation of new conflicts;
- The interaction of land governance strategies with existing state and non-state authorities and notions of property;
- The role of international policy discourses in shaping post-war land governance strategies on the ground;
- The roles and impacts of “pro-poor” technologies for land registration in war-affected settings.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Land is the only open access journal covering all aspects of land science, and it is a pioneering platform for publishing on land system science. Our editorial board is comprised of eminent scholars. We publish high quality research on societally relevant, emerging and innovative topics and results in land system research. It is now one of the top land journals with a significant impact factor, and has a goal to become the best journal in land in the coming years. I strongly recommend Land for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.
