

Special Issue

Permafrost Landscape Response to Global Change

Message from the Guest Editors

In this Special Issue, we invite researchers to submit papers on the following topics:

- Theory and methodology of permafrost landscapes studies.
- Remote sensing and geographical information system (GIS) modelling in permafrost landscapes dynamics studies, including a new mapping method.
- Monitoring, successions, transformation, and degradation of permafrost landscape.
- The current state of permafrost landscapes, environmental problems, and land use.
- Permafrost landscape sensitivity to climate change and anthropogenic impacts.
- Retrospective analysis of permafrost landscape conditions in late Pleistocene and Holocene. Modelling of permafrost landscapes development in the future.
- Adaptation of people to environmental changes in permafrost landscape.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Land is the only open access journal covering all aspects of land science, and it is a pioneering platform for publishing on land system science. Our editorial board is comprised of eminent scholars. We publish high quality research on societally relevant, emerging and innovative topics and results in land system research. It is now one of the top land journals with a significant impact factor, and has a goal to become the best journal in land in the coming years. I strongly recommend Land for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.
