Exploring Discourse and Identity in the Diverse and Evolving Varieties of Southeast Asian Englishes

Message from the Guest Editors

We are delighted to invite you to consider submitting your papers for this Special Issue, entitled "Exploring Discourse and Identity in the Diverse and Evolving Varieties of Southeast Asian Englishes". This Special Issue explores and examines the complex and fascinating topic of Southeast Asian varieties of English and their relationship to identity and discourse. This Special Issue seeks to explore the unique representation or construction of identities and discourses that are embedded within each of these varieties of Southeast Asian English, which present opportunities for research and exploration. It investigates how English has influenced and shaped individual and collective identity, sociocultural dimensions of language use, discourse strategies and communicative practices, and the impact of cultural factors on the discourse of Southeast Asian English (Zafar, 2020; Tan, 2018)...

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Languages (ISSN 2226-471X) is now in its eighth year since its inception in 2015. It is an Open Access journal which seeks to stimulate debates on key issues in languages and linguistics. We welcome papers at the cutting edge of different fields, ranging from applied linguistics to descriptive and theoretical linguistics. Submissions may consist of research articles and critical reviews as well as proposals for Special Issues where multi-disciplinary approaches and different perspectives on current issues are explored. We invite you to consider Languages as a forum for sharing your work.
