

Special Issue

The Acquisition of L2 Sociolinguistic Competence

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to announce an upcoming Special Issue of Languages highlighting current research that sits firmly at the intersection of sociolinguistics and second language (L2) acquisition: the L2 acquisition of sociolinguistic competence. This important body of research has grown substantially over the past 30 years and has contributed significantly to our understanding of what it means to ‘acquire’ a second (or additional) language, both in terms of the internal processes involved in linguistic development and in terms of the social and contextual factors that may support or inhibit acquisition. We welcome contributions on a range of topics related to the L2 acquisition of sociolinguistic competence. We request that authors initially submit a proposed title and an abstract of 400–600 words. Please send submissions to the and to the Languages editorial office. Abstracts will be reviewed by the to assess their relevance to the Special Issue. Full manuscripts will undergo double-blind peer-review.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Languages (ISSN 2226-471X) is now in its eighth year since its inception in 2015. It is an Open Access journal which seeks to stimulate debates on key issues in languages and linguistics. We welcome papers at the cutting edge of different fields, ranging from applied linguistics to descriptive and theoretical linguistics. Submissions may consist of research articles and critical reviews as well as proposals for Special Issues where multi-disciplinary approaches and different perspectives on current issues are explored. We invite you to consider Languages as a forum for sharing your work.
