Special Issue

Syntactic Variation and Change of Heritage Languages

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue welcomes works based on broad and diverse research experiences with heritage varieties: from micro- to macro-contact, from field methods to the investigation of language obsolescence and death, from experimental work on language acquisition to the development of formal models for language structure and transmission. We request that, prior to submitting a manuscript, interested authors initially submit a proposed title and an abstract of 400–600 words summarizing their intended contribution. Please send it to both (cristina.guardiano@unimore.it, g.silvestri@ucla.edu) or to the Languages Editorial Office (languages@mdpi.com). Abstracts will be reviewed by the for the purposes of ensuring a proper fit within the scope of the Special Issue. Full manuscripts will undergo double-blind peer review.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Languages (ISSN 2226-471X) is now in its eighth year since its inception in 2015. It is an Open Access journal which seeks to stimulate debates on key issues in languages and linguistics. We welcome papers at the cutting edge of different fields, ranging from applied linguistics to descriptive and theoretical linguistics. Submissions may consist of research articles and critical reviews as well as proposals for Special Issues where multi-disciplinary approaches and different perspectives on current issues are explored. We invite you to consider Languages as a forum for sharing your work.
