

Special Issue

10th Anniversary of Laws – Feature Papers

Message from the Guest Editor

I cannot think of a more appropriate theme to mark the 10th anniversary of Laws than law reform with a focus on “real world” change. Around the globe, in the context of the many crises we are experiencing such as the pandemic, civil unrest, climate change, the displacement of peoples around the world and violence against women, and children, potentially, legislative reform and improved implementation of legal changes can play a crucial role. The overall focus of this Special Anniversary issue is to explore real world examples of how law reform can work effectively (or not) in addressing these global social issues.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Laws is an international, open access journal featuring rigorous scholarship on critical developments in governance, courts, agencies, and social order. Analysis and synthesis, theory and practice, and empirical and doctrinal work have appeared in the journal; contributions that bridge these traditional boundaries are particularly welcome. The social sciences and humanities generate insights both from and for the legal system. While theory grounds Laws in a timeless dialogue shaped by traditions of inquiry, legal practice ensures that scholars are addressing pressing problems. Both normative and positive scholarship can aid policymakers, judges, and agency officials. Laws brings together the work of theorists and practitioners, and a diverse range of empirical researchers, to promote the progress of foundational legal norms.
