

Special Issue

Business, Human Rights and Sustainable Development

Message from the Guest Editor

I would like to invite you to submit a contribution to the Special Issue on “Business, Human Rights, and Sustainable Development” of Laws. The focus of the Special Issue is on the relationship between Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and the private sector. The 2030 Agenda explicitly mentions the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights. This is a significant recognition of the role of this instrument in the context of sustainable development. Some of the questions are whether the UN Guiding Principles establish obligations for corporations in the achievement of the SDGs and what are the mechanisms available to monitor their implementation and to ensure access to remedies in case individuals and communities are affected by economic projects. Although the achievement of SDGs plays a crucial role in the activities of international organizations and other actors, the dimension of human rights in their achievement should be explored. The Special Issue aims at filling this gap contributing the reflection on SDGs.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Laws is an international, open access journal featuring rigorous scholarship on critical developments in governance, courts, agencies, and social order. Analysis and synthesis, theory and practice, and empirical and doctrinal work have appeared in the journal; contributions that bridge these traditional boundaries are particularly welcome. The social sciences and humanities generate insights both from and for the legal system. While theory grounds Laws in a timeless dialogue shaped by traditions of inquiry, legal practice ensures that scholars are addressing pressing problems. Both normative and positive scholarship can aid policymakers, judges, and agency officials. Laws brings together the work of theorists and practitioners, and a diverse range of empirical researchers, to promote the progress of foundational legal norms.
