2020: A 10 Years Journey— Advances in Life Sciences

Message from the Guest Editors

Life was first launched back in 2011, and this year, its tenth volume is scheduled to be released. To mark this significant anniversary, a Special Issue edited by the editorial board members is inviting all prominent scientists in the field for contributions. This Special Issue is dedicated to the publication on all aspects of life sciences. This comprises the interaction of blood and tissue cells with foreign body molecules or materials, infection processes, pathogens, Infection and Immunity, astrobiology, biochemistry, biodiversity, bioinformatics, biomedicine, biophysics and all other aspects of life sciences. We very much look forward to your valued contributions to make this Special Issue a unique resource for future researchers from the exciting field of life sciences.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Life (ISSN 2075-1729) is an international, peer-reviewed open access journal that publishes scientific studies related to fundamental themes in life sciences. Some papers are published individually, while others are submitted for inclusion in special issues with guest editors. You are invited to contribute a research article, essay, or a review to be considered for publication.

Editor-in-Chief
