Special Issue

Precision Medicine in Cardiovascular Diseases

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue aims to explore the cutting-edge advancements in and applications of precision medicine in the realm of cardiovascular health. With a focus on tailoring treatment strategies to individual patients based on their genetic makeup, lifestyle factors, and environmental influences, this issue seeks to highlight the transformative potential of precision medicine in optimizing patient outcomes and revolutionizing cardiovascular care.

Through the collection of research articles, reviews, and case studies, this Special Issue will delve into various aspects of precision medicine, including molecular profiling, biomarker identification, personalized risk assessment, and targeted therapies for cardiovascular diseases. By elucidating the underlying mechanisms of cardiovascular conditions at the molecular level and identifying patient-specific factors that contribute to disease susceptibility and progression, this issue aims to pave the way for more precise diagnostic methods and therapeutic interventions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Life (ISSN 2075-1729) is an international, peer-reviewed open access journal that publishes scientific studies related to fundamental themes in life sciences. Some papers are published individually, while others are submitted for inclusion in special issues with guest editors. You are invited to contribute a research article, essay, or a review to be considered for publication.

Editor-in-Chief
