Advances in Breast Cancer Research and Treatment

Message from the Guest Editors

Breast cancer is the most frequent malignancy worldwide. Recent developments in both clinical research and basic research have promoted our understanding and management of breast cancer. This Special Issue on “Advances in Breast Cancer Research and Treatment” focuses on recent developments in clinical and basic research of breast cancer. We are pleased to invite you to submit research papers, reviews, communications, etc. for this Special Issue. Research topics include, but are not limited to, biomarker identification, clinical pharmacology, histological and molecular subtypes, cancer genetics, medical imaging, progress in surgical and radiotherapy, and targeted therapy. Translational research and basic research are also welcome. We look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Life (ISSN 2075-1729) is an international, peer-reviewed open access journal that publishes scientific studies related to fundamental themes in life sciences. Some papers are published individually, while others are submitted for inclusion in special issues with guest editors. You are invited to contribute a research article, essay, or a review to be considered for publication.
