Updates in Cardiovascular Medicine: Diagnosis, Treatment and Technical Aspects

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to announce our new Special Issue entitled “Updates in Cardiovascular Medicine; Diagnosis, treatment and technical aspects” for “Life”. Cardiovascular science is developing rapidly; new diagnostic approaches, novel pharmaceutical treatments and current interventional procedures have emerged in recent years. Our aim in this Special Issue is to cover all the recent advances in cardiovascular medicine, including diagnostic, interventional and technical aspects. We welcome all types of articles from all areas of Cardiovascular Medicine. Please feel free to contact with us for further information regarding submission.
