Olfactory and Gustatory Dysfunctions in COVID-19 Patients

Message from the Guest Editors

Olfactory and gustatory dysfunctions have proven to be one of the most frequent and specific symptoms of COVID-19. In this Special Issue of Life, we invite researchers from around the world to share their recent research on this topic with us. We are looking for articles that investigate the epidemiological, clinical and pathogenetic aspects of chemosensitive disorders in COVID-19. Furthermore, we are seeking studies on persistent olfactory and gustatory disorders in long-COVID-19, on risk factors for persisting dysfunctions and on the most recent therapeutic advances.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Life (ISSN 2075-1729) is an international, peer-reviewed open access journal that publishes scientific studies related to fundamental themes in life sciences. Some papers are published individually, while others are submitted for inclusion in special issues with guest editors. You are invited to contribute a research article, essay, or a review to be considered for publication.
