Modern Radiotherapy Concepts for Hematological and Solid Malignancies

Message from the Guest Editors

In the modern era of radiation oncology, the main goal is to reduce treatment-related toxicities. This goal has led to the introduction of novel treatment approaches such as adaptive radiotherapy and de-escalation of radiation dose or volume. In this collection, we would like to provide Life readers with recent publications concerning radiotherapy advances and modern treatment concepts. Submissions discussing the role of modern radiotherapy in the treatment of solid or hematological neoplasms are strongly encouraged. The reviews and original studies are expected to enrich the literature and the scientific community.
