Advanced Polymeric Biomaterials: Preparation, Characterization and Applications (Second Volume)

Message from the Guest Editor

The present Special Issue on “Advanced Polymeric Biomaterials: Preparation, Characterization and Applications (Second Volume)” welcomes contributions in the form of full articles, short communications, or review articles in topics related to the design, synthesis, characterization, surface modification and processing of multifunctional polymeric and composite biomaterials for use in different biomedical applications, including but not limited to medical implants and devices, drug delivery, tissue engineering and biosensors. This Special Issue represents a good opportunity for chemists, biologists, physicists, pharmacologists and physicians to put together different aspects of their research that aim to control complex and tunable chemical, mechanical and biological functions in vitro and in vivo.
