

Special Issue

Deep Learning and Generative AI for Wireless Communications

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue solicits original research and review articles, aiming to bring together researchers, practitioners, and industry experts from around the world to explore the latest advancements, deployment challenges, and opportunities on emerging theories and applications of deep learning and generative artificial intelligence for wireless communications. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Deep learning/generative AI for wireless signal processing;
- Deep learning/generative AI for wireless network management;
- Deep learning/generative AI for emerging wireless applications;
- Wireless networks for deep learning/generative AI;
- Semantic and goal-oriented communications;
- Standardization and commercialization.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The journal Mathematics publishes high-quality, refereed papers that treat both pure and applied mathematics. The journal highlights articles devoted to the mathematical treatment of questions arising in physics, chemistry, biology, statistics, finance, computer science, engineering and sociology, particularly those that stress analytical/algebraic aspects and novel problems and their solutions. One of the missions of the journal is to serve mathematicians and scientists through the prompt publication of significant advances in any branch of science and technology, and to provide a forum for the discussion of new scientific developments.

Editor-in-Chief

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), RePEc, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Mathematics) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Mathematics)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 17.3 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.8 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2025).
