Special Issue

Advances in Queueing Theory and Applications

Message from the Guest Editor

We are delighted to announce the forthcoming opening of the third volume of our Special Issue, "Advances in Queueing Theory and Applications". Building upon the resounding success of the previous two editions, we present a renewed opportunity for you to contribute to this Special Issue. Our aim is to gather a comprehensive collection of articles and reviews that focus on recent studies in the field of Queueing Theory. Topics of interest include theoretical advancements in Queueing Theory, practical applications for real systems and processes, and related fields that involve stochastic modeling. We look forward to your valuable contributions to this Special Issue.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The journal Mathematics publishes high-quality, refereed papers that treat both pure and applied mathematics. The journal highlights articles devoted to the mathematical treatment of questions arising in physics, chemistry, biology, statistics, finance, computer science, engineering and sociology, particularly those that stress analytical/algebraic aspects and novel problems and their solutions. One of the missions of the journal is to serve mathematicians and scientists through the prompt publication of significant advances in any branch of science and technology, and to provide a forum for the discussion of new scientific developments.
