Mathematics as a Language and Other Languages for Learning Supported with ICT

Message from the Guest Editor

The aim of this Special Issue is to publish original research articles that cover recent advances in mathematics as a language and other languages for learning supported with ICT. The focus will especially be on educational research about settings and applications linked to languages and ICT in various research areas, such as mathematics, didactics, music, arts, foreign languages, and others. Potential topics include but are not limited to the following:

- Institutional and environmental settings required to develop learning through a language
- Student difficulties to learn through a language
- “Translations” and support provided by software and ICT
- Inter-disciplinary and multi-linguistic approaches to learning
- Mathematics education
- Language instruction
- Music
- Classroom techniques
- Computer uses in education

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The journal Mathematics publishes high-quality, refereed papers that treat both pure and applied mathematics. The journal highlights articles devoted to the mathematical treatment of questions arising in physics, chemistry, biology, statistics, finance, computer science, engineering and sociology, particularly those that stress analytical/algebraic aspects and novel problems and their solutions. One of the missions of the journal is to serve mathematicians and scientists through the prompt publication of significant advances in any branch of science and technology, and to provide a forum for the discussion of new scientific developments.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), RePEc, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Mathematics) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Mathematics)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 18.4 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.4 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
