Updates on Perioperative Anesthetic Management

Message from the Guest Editor

Dear colleagues, This Special Issue intends to provide comprehensive research updates on all aspects of perioperative care and will include original investigations and case reports, among others. The topics covered include ERAS, novel anesthetic techniques, novel anesthetic agents, advances in hemodynamic monitoring, opioid-sparing perioperative practice, multimodal postoperative analgesia, controversies in fluid therapy, new techniques/equipment in airway management, DINE procedure and its anesthetic management, postoperative neurocognitive decline and perioperative anticoagulation management. In this Special Issue, we will consider articles from a wide spectrum of related areas, ranging from technical studies, review articles, meta-analyses, research articles (including observation and randomized) and case reports.
