Diabetes, Metabolic Diseases and Nutrition in Women and Children

Message from the Guest Editors

The journal Medicina launched a Special Issue titled "Diabetes, Metabolic Diseases and Nutrition in Women and Children". Diabetes mellitus remains a health issue that represents a burden for society, patients, and healthcare professionals because of its increasing prevalence and its consequences on patients' wellbeing. The aim of this Special Issue is to attract authors working in the field of diabetes and metabolic disease, with a special interest in women and children. We are seeking research papers, reviews, meta-analyses, and case reports.
