Peripheral Artery Disease in Thromboinflammation Era: Pathophysiological, Clinical and Therapeutic Implications

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to provide a comprehensive overview of recent advancements in PAD research, with a particular focus on its pathophysiological, clinical, and therapeutic implications in the context of thromboinflammation. This Special Issue will feature pioneering research that explores novel biomarkers, mechanistic insights, and interventional strategies, aiming to bridge the gap between basic science and clinical application. Submissions should demonstrate rigorous scientific inquiry and offer significant contributions to the field. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Pathophysiological mechanisms linking thromboinflammation and PAD;
- Novel diagnostic biomarkers and imaging advancements;
- Innovative therapeutic approaches, including pharmacological and interventional strategies;
- Clinical management and patient outcomes in the context of thromboinflammation.

We particularly encourage interdisciplinary studies that integrate cardiovascular, immunological, and molecular research to foster new therapeutic insights.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Medicina (ISSN: 1648-9144). Medicina is an open access, peer-reviewed scientific journal that publishes original articles, critical reviews, research notes, and short communications on medicine. The scientific community and the general public can access the content free of charge as soon as it is published.
