Chronic Fatigue Syndrome: From Clinical Observations to Unifying Hypotheses of Disease Mechanisms

Message from the Guest Editor

I solicit papers addressing ME/CFS, post-COVID/long COVID syndrome or other conditions where long-term fatigue is a central clinical complaint. I encourage you to report on symptoms or signs that you think have so far received too little attention. You may report their frequency in your patient population and put them into a meaningful context of plausible disease mechanisms. You may present a single symptom, a single case, a set of symptoms or a series of cases that have inspired your hypothesis.
