Immunological Mechanisms and Diagnostic Advances in Interstitial Lung Diseases and Systemic Inflammatory Disorders

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to present a comprehensive and up-to-date overview of the immunological underpinnings and diagnostic advancements in ILDs and SIDs. By integrating perspectives from pulmonology, rheumatology, immunology, and translational medicine, the Special Issue seeks to explore how immune mechanisms contribute to disease onset, progression, and heterogeneity.

We invite original research articles and comprehensive reviews that address any of the following themes:

- Immunological pathways involved in ILDs and/or SIDs;
- Cross-talk between systemic inflammation and pulmonary fibrosis;
- Identification and validation of novel biomarkers or autoantibodies;
- Translational studies integrating molecular immunology with clinical outcomes;
- Diagnostic innovations, including imaging, machine learning, and multi-omics platforms;
- Clinical trials or observational studies focused on immunomodulatory therapies;
- Reports on rare or complex cases, highlighting diagnostic or immunological challenges.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Medicina (ISSN: 1648-9144). Medicina is an open access, peer-reviewed scientific journal that publishes original articles, critical reviews, research notes, and short communications on medicine. The scientific community and the general public can access the content free of charge as soon as it is published.
