Update on Cardiothoracic and Vascular Surgery

Message from the Guest Editors

Cardiothoracic and vascular surgery have undergone significant advancements over the past decades. The therapeutic options for complex cardiovascular conditions were expanded by the integration of cutting edge imaging modalities and endovascular procedures. Cardiothoracic and vascular surgery continue to evolve with outstanding innovations that enhance patient outcomes and the safety of the procedures. The aim of this Special Issue is to provide a comprehensive overview of the recent developments in the field, highlighting key innovations, challenges and future directions. This Special Issue aims to present a collection of original research, reviews, research notes and short communications that will illustrate the dynamic advancements in this field, aiming to stimulate further research into the next generation of cardiovascular care. Technological innovations in cardiothoracic surgery, advances in vascular surgery perioperative care and enhanced recovery protocols, challenges and future directions. We are soliciting original articles and reviews that investigate cutting edge research in cardiothoracic and vascular surgery fields.
